The meetings are scheduled to be held in person and we are going to attempt to run a Zoom concurrently. Program to be determined.

Please contact Bob Scott with program ideas.

MINUTES OF THE OCTOBER 16, 2021, MEETING VIA ZOOM

The Fall meeting of PNCS was held 10/16/21 via Zoom.

We connected on Zoom about 10 minutes late to technical difficulties involving the operator (Alene) remembering how to get everyone connected. Apologies to all who were inconvenienced. To prevent this in the future, the Board is seeking a volunteer who is a bit more computer savvy to help on future Zoom calls. The meeting was called to order about 4:15pm PST. The following members were in attendance: Bob Scott, Gordon Bennett, Dot Hosking, Alene Reaugh, Douglas Hambley, Gord'n Perrot, Chris & Valarie Ensor, Sandy Dunkel, Sandy Ryder, Carolyn Haines, Terry Maves, Nick Nicholas, Judy Berg, Bonnie La-Doe, Doug Wolford, Craig Pedlar, and Joan Huston.

GUEST SPEAKER, Gage McKinney from Grass Valley, California is the Past President of the California Cornish Cousin. He teaches Cornish History and Culture in the Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at Sierra College in Grass Valley.

The members were asked to introduce themselves and give their Cornish Connections.

Gage McKinney presented us with his speech, AFTER 40 YEARS, HAVE WE SAVED CORNISH CULTURE? given at the Butte Gathering of the Cornish American Heritage Society, and has given me permission to distribute to our members. See page 3-5 for the complete text.

BUSINESS MEETING: Bob announced that we would not be having a Christmas Party this year as it does not feel safe for us to be meeting in person at this time.

Bob advised he will be sending out a questionnaire to all members to determine the overall feelings about in person meetings.

Carolyn Haines explained that the Cornish American Heritage Society CAHS has changed, and they no longer have "members," now they have "friends," there are no dues, there will be a quarterly newsletter via email only, and Zoom meetings which will sometimes include special speakers. The Gatherings will continue to be every two years. The link to contact CAHS to be added to the "friends" list is http:// cousinjack.org/join/

ANNOUCEMENT: Dick Colenso is welcoming his 18th Great Grandchild.

The meeting adjourned 7:30pm PST

Notes and texts from the talk given October 16, 2021 to the Pacific Northwest Cornish Association (via Zoom)

40TH ANNIVERSARY: This year marks 40 years of the Cornish American Heritage Society and a movement to preserve Cornish heritage in North America, and in Cornwall, too. This is an occasion to celebrate all our movement has achieved in 40 years! We can talk about those achievements.

We must also recognize— as Bill Curnow eloquent tribute to our cousin Howard reminds us -- it's a time a time to remember and to grieve for those who have worked beside us in the movement but whom we no longer see.

If there's anything a Celtic heritage teaches us, it's that life involves seasons of light and seasons of darkness; that success and failure are fraternal twins; that sorrow may stay the night but joy comes with the morning. Amid the contrasts of darkness and light we see and discern the way forward.

HOWARD CURNOW REMEMBERED: In our memories, going forward, the passing of our friend and Cornish champion Howard Curnow, will always punctuate this milestone anniversary.

Private moments: Talking on the sidelines of a gathering; in a pub; a tour of Penwith in his car

Public moments: More characteristic of the memories we share of Howard. Extraordinary talents for bringing people together -1) a booming voice to bring attention; 2) a quick wit for a story or a quip which could break the ice, relieve tensions and move a discussion forward; 3) a bold imagination to push a new idea; a voice to lift a song, to lead us all in singing, and to unite us in the tuneful way most common to the Cornish.

We loved Howard; we will miss him; and only naturally we ask – how can we carry on?

FOUNDERS & LEADERS OF CAHS:

Paul Liddicoat – speaker and motivator who could help people believe they could do great things

Marvin Rusch – leaders and administration and a man who embodied the welcoming, friendly spirit of our gatherings over the years

Dorothy Sweet – an outgoing, vivacious women who was foremost an instigator

Rosalie Armstrong – the CAHS president who, with her learned imagination, turned the CAHS gaze to Ontario, Canada

Which leader of our movement inspired and motivated you? I hope you'll talk about that during the course of this virtual gathering and help to fill in a picture I must sketch all too hurriedly.

THE GATHERINGS

The fruit of our leaders' labor have been the bi-annual gatherings and the chance for many of us to become familiar with the prominent places where the Cornish settlement, establishing bastions of not only Cornish culture but something more, Cousin I should

I personally missed an early gathering in Salt Lake City, focused on genealogy. After that gathering, as Paul Liddicoat told me, the treasurer absconded with all the money! I'll never forget Ely, MN; Pen Argle, PA; Calumet & Houghton & Hancock on the UP of Michigan; Bowmenville & Toronto, OT; and of course, that Cornish jewel pinned to the heart of America, Mineral Point, WS. When California slips at last into the ocean, I'm taking refuge in Mineral Point.

I should also mention the homecoming events, Dewhelans in Cornish, which took scores of us from North America back to Cornwall, especially to Falmouth in 2002 and Newquay in 2004. What fun!

And so much more we have achieved –

Regional Cornish groups were organized from New England to California; from British Columbia to Florida; from Arizona to Ontario.

We have supported Cornish-Canadian & American musicians – like Heather Dale, Marion Howard, Jim Wearne and the GVMVC

We have sent representatives to the Cornish festival in Pachuca, Sonora, Mexico

Writers – Sue Pellowe, Jim Jewel; Ron James and John Caddy, and a small army of newsletter editors and contributors

We have sponsored the Cornish Global Migration Program and established Cornish studies archives at the University of Wisconsin, Platteville and at the Nevada County Historical Research Library in California, each with more than 400 volumes, archival materials and other media.

If the CAHS were a married couple, they would say they had been faithful to their vows. We have lived up to our mission statement. We have preserved our culture and shared it with others.

RETURNING TO THE THEME: As I sketch the triumphs and achievements of our Cornish movement in North America, I return to our theme of two dimensions, darkness & light, the black and white of our flag. Achievements have their costs; memories come with a price.

BURN-OUT: Here I'll speak only of personal experience. In 2009, with Eleanor Kenitzer, I organized an CAHS gathering called "Other Oceans, Other Worlds," which sought to highlight the Cornish experience around the Pacific Ocean. We had attendees and presenters from four continents and 9 countries, including New Zealand, Australia and Japan. We had 300 registered, and because the gathering included public events, over 1,000 participants. It was a great success. And when it was over, I told my wife: "I'll never do anything like that again." I was burned out.

Across our movement, I've heard the same story of burn out repeatedly. I've talked to organization presidents who serve term after terms because they can't find a replacement; officers who are filling multiple roles; and newsletter editors who dread facing another edition. Our numbers are diminishing; our officers are worn out; and most of the regional groups that once existed exist no more.

I'm speaking today as a cousin and friend, but if I were in the pulpit I would take as my text a passage from Jeremiah 8: "The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved." Many of us have exhausted ourselves and Cornish Culture is not saved.

SOURCES OF HOPE: We have come to a point where we can despair, but that is not my message. As our movement clearly has lost momentum, but we also are entering a time of hope. Here are some sources for hope -

Oswald Pryor: Mine manager, cartoonist, wrote Australia's Little Cornwall in 1962, which was an elegy for Cornish culture. Cornish culture in South Australia was lost. Only ten years later the first Kernewek Lowender, 1973. In 2013, 37,000 people attended.

"So Long, Cousin Jack": Sacramento Bee reported Cornish culture was disappearing in the mining towns. In 1967 the GV Cornish Carol Choir gave up public performances. Only a year later, GV established its "Cornish Christmas" celebration which has continued for over 50 years.

Two organizations – the Toronto Cornish Association and the California Cornish Cousins were built on the ashes of earlier organizations in Ontario and California then had existed previously and did not survive. [And a third, an earlier Washington State Cornish society.]

A new generation will have a new approach: Sea chanties in London.

ISPEAK TODAY FROM THE ANCESTRAL HOME OF THE NISENAN: Take a lesson from indigenous people from Canada to Australia and across America. They are reasserting their cultural identities, and so can we.

WHAT RESOURCES HAVE YOU? When the disciples want to send the multitudes, Jesus said "You give them something to eat." What resources have you? At this stage in the Cornish movement, look to yourself. What do you know about your heritage? Who can you share it with? How can you share it effectively? Can you give a talk? Can you write a letter? Can you fly the Cornish flag? Can you have books on your shelf when your grandchildren visit? Is there a picture or a map on your wall?

CELTIC TWILIGHT: For the Celts, it is always twilight. We Cornish have lived on a precipice since the Romans, the Angles and the Saxons drove to the fringe of our island; since hardships and opportunities drove us or lured us away from our homeland; since technological change and economic upheaval transformed the remote places where we settled; since our immigrant culture was swamped by American culture. Today you find yourself right where you belong, on the edge, on the brink of extinction, making your last stand. Do it with dignity, humility and good humor. Do you best to revere and live your cultural heritage. Just do that – and like Oswald Pryor, and Ann Treneer and Arthur Quiller-Coach and A. L. Rowse and Howard Curnow and so many other Cornish champion, you may be surprised by what follows.

Alene, Thanks for the video. It worked pretty well, just a few skips. I expect to be available for March in Puyallup.

Hang in there! Now, @ 91 I'm feeling some limitations, but nothing major. My son, daughter-in-law and I just returned from a 3+week visit to Minnesota Family. What a great time with family & friends I had not seen in 10 years, due to Louise's inability to travel.

I continue my "recreational genealogy" and have over 1,250 "Colenso Name Family Members" out of several thousand total members. Fun!

Blessings & Peace Dick Colenso

To:Alene Reaugh Mon, Oct 18 at 12:07 PM Hi, Alene

Attached below are notes and texts from the talk I gave on Saturday. Please distribute as you please.

Thank you again for giving the chance to join the group on Saturday and to give the talk. I hope it encourages the Cousins. Gage

To Paraphrase JFK—Ask not what your Cornish Society can do for you, ask what can you do to support your Cornish Society.

Please be thinking about volunteering for one of the open positions on the Board. For this group to move forward, we need new and fresh ideas and new people in those positions. Please support your Cornish Heritage by getting involved.

To PNCS members

I am building a list of surnames and places in Cornwall for our members. I have gathered some information from past membership applications but am missing that data for a great many of you. I would appreciate your completing the form below and returning it to me. I anticipate making the final list available to all our members. We may be surprised at the connections that can be made!

Please check the website www.nwcornishsociety.com for the names listed for you and let me know if you have corrections to it.

You can mail or email your response to: Dot Hosking 451 Spruce St. #222 Florence, OR 97349 dot97479@gmail.com

Harry & Ann Glasson Our good friends from Cornwall

Dear Friends of the Cornish American Heritage Society,

At our business meeting at the 19th Gathering on July 16th, the membership moved and approved that the Cornish American Heritage Society move to an "Informal" governance. We thought this option was needed: Our membership is aging and it has become difficult to find people to take on leadership roles.

This means:

• There will only be a digital newsletter, which will be emailed and posted on our website for easy access. There will be no printed newsletter. (This begins 1/1/22).

The database we keep will only be used for names and email addresses. Instead of "members," the names will be "kowetha" (friends) and our group will be considered a "kowethas" (a fellowship).

There will be the addition of a zoom meeting between each newsletter with an informal format. We will have speakers, share informal information, or just have an opportunity to chat between friends.

This also means, since there are now no official members and there are no membership dues.

We will have no direct income with this change, but we have sufficient monies in the accounts to maintain this for a long time. Donations will still be gladly accepted to the Paul Smales Fund. The Paul Smales Fund helps pay some travel expenses for those from Cornwall who attend/assist in the Gatherings.

It is still my intention to have an in-person 20th Gathering.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Meur ras! (Thank you)

Cornish Ass'n. Plans Festival

The annual Harvest Festival of the Washington Cornish Association will be held at the Central Y. M. C. A. Building at S o'clock Saturday night. Ray Hale will be installed as president, William Hosking as vice president; Mrs. Ray Hale, treasurer, and Mrs. James H. Addicoat, secretary,

The celebration will be characcrized by community singing, ind a homecoming welcome will be extended to the organizaions's past president. John H. Villiams, and Mrs. Williams, who ecently returned from a visit to 'ornwall. England. Persons of 'ornish descent are invited to atend.

NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

When I read these old news articles, I wondered to myself what happened to these people. What happened to the Cornish Association that sang and danced and had concerts and a Harvest Festival? I do not think 1947 was so long ago, it was the year I was born and my Great Grandfather Joseph Martin Hosking, who immigrated to American, died in Tacoma. Their descendants are out here somewhere.
